Chemistry Department Policy on Enrollment for Multi-section Courses

The Chemistry Department makes every effort to ensure a sufficient number of seats in each course are available for interested students. However, for courses with multiple sections, some time slots inevitably fill up faster than others. It is departmental policy that the section capacity limits will be strictly observed, and additional seats will only be made available once all sections are full. This is necessary for maintaining class sizes that have the greatest educational value and for ensuring safe conditions in the laboratories.

If it is critical to enroll in a particular chemistry course in a given semester, it is in your best interest to sign up for an available section during your assigned scheduling period. If there is no capacity when you schedule, please contact any course instructor, and your name will be placed on a common wait list. You will then be placed in a section if and when space becomes available. Please be aware that this may only occur at the beginning of the next semester, and that no extra capacity will be added until all sections are filled.
