GHS 290 (1-2 credits)
Native American Health and Social Justice

An evaluation of the social and environmental determinants that contribute to the significant health disparities between Native American populations and the population as a whole, and the complex challenges of reducing these disparities.

Course meetings will align with visiting scholars’ visits and may include lunch, afternoon workshops, and evening classes and talks. First year and sophomores only. Signature required.

Visit: Sites.Allegheny.edu/GlobalHealth/ to complete the form for enrollment now!!

Mar 28 – Apr 27  T/Th 4:30-6:00p

New short course for Spring 2017!