

Completing the Water Cycle:

Meteorology

Wednesday, July 20, 2005

CREEK CONNECTIONS

Allegheny College
Teacher Workshop

Teachers were introduced to the topic of meteorology with the help of Penn State University Professor Toby Carlson. Also, another speaker Bill Drzal, who is a meteorologist with the National Weather Service, talked about different issues involving the devastating flooding in the Fall of 2004.

Teachers also had time to ask interesting questions about different issues that were involved with the concept of meteorology.

