

Glenn Sharfman

Vice President and Dean for Academic Affairs and
Professor of History, Manchester University

“Are You My Brother’s Keeper? Why Ordinary People Acted Extraordinarily During the Holocaust”

Much of the historical writing and current teaching on the Holocaust focuses on famous perpetrators, but this talk will concentrate on some ordinary individuals who acted extraordinarily during World War II. The discussion will center on some lesser known people who were put in a position where they could have acted heroically or cruelly. We will talk about why some chose to save their neighbors while others chose not to during the Holocaust.

Thursday, October 31, 2013

12:15-1:30 p.m.

Tillotson Room of the Tippie Alumni Center

Lunch provided

Sponsored by: History Department, Phi Alpha Theta honor society, Jewish Studies Minor Steering Committee, and Allegheny Hillel.

ALLEGHENY COLLEGE