*Loving Mother of the Redeemer, who remains the accessible Gateway of Heaven and Star of the Sea,
Give aid to a falling people that strives to rise;

have mercy on sinners.²*

Felix Mendelssohn (1809-1847)

*Oh, how soon the cycle ends, spring turns into wintertime!
Oh, how soon all happiness turns to sad silence!
The last sounds soon fade! The last songbirds are soon flown!
The last green is soon gone! They all want to return home!
Oh, how soon the cycle ends, merriness turns to longing sorrow.
Were you a dream, you thoughts of love? Sweet as spring and fast disappearing?
Only one thing will never wane: the longing that never goes.³*

My soul has fit you to its measure;
It is you I want as a garment (habit) for my soul.
Your every aspect is written on my soul;
I read it - so alone - that in this,
I guard myself even from you.
I confess to owing you all that I have;

and for you I would die, and for you I do die.⁴*
